

My name is Elise Covarrubias. I am a proud Republican, wife, and mother to one wonderful son. I registered as a Republican at the age of 18 and have faithfully voted in every election since, because I believe participation is not just a right—it is a responsibility.

Since 2015, I have been honored to volunteer with both the Republican Party of Otero County (RPOC) and the Republican Party of New Mexico (RPNM). Over the years, I have worked extensively in credentialing and voter registration, helping ensure our processes are organized, fair, and effective. I am passionate about grassroots engagement and understand the importance of accuracy, structure, and integrity in party operations.

I also had the privilege of working a 30-day legislative session for Representative Black, gaining valuable experience in the legislative process and seeing firsthand how policy impacts our communities. In 2020, I proudly worked to support President Trump's campaign efforts, standing strong for conservative values and election integrity.

I look forward to serving on the Rules Committee to help strengthen and progress RPNM. I am committed to upholding our principles, improving our processes, and ensuring our party is positioned for success across New Mexico. I would appreciate your support in my ventures to move our party forward.
